Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Collective investment schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the manager. The Manager does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. The Manager retains full legal responsibility for the Fund, regardless of Co-Naming arrangements. Transaction cutoff time is 14:30 daily. Each portfolio may be closed for new investments. Valuation time is 15:00 (17h00 at quarter end). Prices are published daily and available in newspapers countrywide, as well as on request from the Manager. IP Management Company (RF) Pty Ltd is the authorised Manager of the Scheme contact 021 673 1340 or ipmc\_clientservices@fundrock.com. Standard Bank is the trustee / custodian - contact compliance - IP@standardbank.co.za. Additional information including application forms, the annual report of the Manager and detailed holdings of the portfolio as at the last quarter end are available, free of charge, from ipmc\_clientservices@fundrock.com. A statement of changes in the composition of the portfolio during the reporting period is available on request. The performance is calculated for the portfolio. The individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. The fund is invested in portfolios of collective investment schemes that levy their own charges, and which could result in a higher fee structure for the fund. Kindly direct all complaints to ipmc\_complaints@fundrock.com.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

In financial markets, inference and behavioural bias are often seen as opposites—one based on logic and analysis, the other shaped by emotion and psychology. But in uncertain times, relying solely on one approach falls short. The most effective investors learn to combine both: using inference to interpret fundamentals and behavioural bias to read market sentiment and timing. Right now, investor sentiment toward global equities is more optimistic than it was two months ago. Tariff tensions have eased as President Trump shifts focus to his next policy priorities: a $3.2 trillion budget package, deregulation, and tax cuts. However, bond markets are uneasy. Long-dated US yields (20- and 30-year) have risen above 5%, reflecting concerns over how the government will fund additional debt—especially with nearly $7 trillion in short-term T-bills maturing later this year. The proposed $3.2 trillion budget is highly pro-cyclical—adding stimulus to an already active economy. So, where does this leave equity investors? The S&P 500 has rebounded strongly over the past seven weeks, helped by a sharp drop in market volatility (as measured by the VIX). But fundamentals haven’t kept pace. Earnings estimates are still being revised down, and while core inflation is easing, the weak dollar and ongoing tariffs pose upside risks. Rising long-term bond yields put pressure on the 10-year benchmark, limiting the scope for price-earnings multiples to expand. For US equities to push meaningfully higher from here, markets would need to see falling inflation, lower interest rates, and improving earnings. Right now, that seems unlikely.
